

Health and Safety Publications to be free

The Health and Safety Executive (HSE) has announced that in Autumn 2009 they will provide Approved Codes of Practices (ACoPs) and Guidance publications free from their website.

Judith Hackett (Chair of HSE) said "this will help SME's, Safety Representatives and others to gain access to free guidance and advice".

This will be a great opportunity for TGF Clients to get publications to assist in the management of Health and Safety.

Also, recently the HSE website has been redesigned and the emphasis is now on providing step by step and detailed information to allow easier compliance.

The HSE website is now an excellent resource for finding out information regarding the issues that face your business. For further details visit: <http://www.hse.gov.uk/index.htm>
